

I am trying to find out exactly what the divers thought of what we were doing. Were you aware of the process we used and did it make sense, or was it a bit of a skive. Please be honest as I am trying to get facts together rather than a Gung-Ho view.

Your Name:

When did you first dive in JIM? The year is good enough.

Places where you dived JIM?

Who was Senior Rate?

Any specific tasks undertaken, such as Casino Royale (Portland) or Flying JIM tests at Falmouth?

Did you ever dive JIM using a Gemini Inflatable at Bincleaves?

What was your opinion of that system? Be honest!

Did you do your training at Rosyth and then the Clyde? If not, where?

Who was with you during training?

Do you remember the names of the DMS divers? One was called Gordon.

What was your opinion of JIM?

Did you think JIM would be useful for salvage work or Subsmash?

Did you ever use JIM in 1986 and if so, where?

Any particular place where something happened to you or was considered amusing and I do remember most of them, but most will not be written up. Please be as factual as possible.

Have any of the lads hung up their gear for the last time?

Anything else to add?

Many thanks for your time and I will ensure you get a copy of the photos once we have published the book.
