Poem

'The Divers Lost' by Unknown Author
To be read by Peter Little

On ocean waves no poppies grow,
No crosses stand in ordered row,
There, young hearts sleep beneath the waves –
The spirited, the good, the brave,
And only starts a constant vigil keep
For them who lie beneath the deep.
It is true you cannot kneel in prayer,
On a certain spot and think "He's there",
But to the ocean you can go,
And see the white caps marching row on row
And know that he will always ride,
In and out with every tide.
And when your span of life has passed,
He will meet you at the "Captains Mast",
And they who mourn on distant shore,
For divers who will come home no more,
Can dry their eyes and pray for these,
Who worked beneath the heaving seas.
For stars that shine and winds that blow
And whitecaps marching row on row
They can never lonely be,
For when they lived –
They chose the sea

Farewell to Terry

The Lord's Prayer

Our Father, who art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy name;
Thy kingdom come;
Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread.
And forgive us our trespasses,
As we forgive those who trespass against us.
And lead us not into temptation;
But deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom,
The power and the glory
For ever and ever
Amen
